

From the Children's Room

February 2024

Reference questions: 19

Program statistics:

Storytime:

Read a Recipe:

2/7	14	8
2/14	12	4
2/21	16	On break
2/28	0 (rainy day)	On break

I've continued to rearrange the collection to make for better flow in the room:

- The vox books and other language books are now located where Children's Reference used to be.
- Children's Reference and "D" books are now above the Spanish board books. Many of the reference books and ER non-fiction are now relabeled and interfiled in the general non-fiction. (Or will be soon).
- All of the PTC books (Parent Teacher Collection) are above the board books and next to the DVDs.
- In the Non-fiction area, I have switched some of the shelving around to try and make it easier to have breaks by subjects and call numbers.

We had a few different displays up during the month: Lunar New Year, Valentine's Day, and African American History for the whole month.

I completed two more flannel sets: "One Dinosaur Went Out to Play" (a song) and the story of Tickle Monster by Edouard Manceau.

At the end of the month I met with Wizard, a Dalmation therapy dog, and his handler Debi. They are going to start coming to the library regularly (beginning 3/5) on Tuesday afternoon for a Read with Wizard program from 4-4:30 in the Children's Room.

We are also starting a Lego Club in March. It will meet once a month on the first Thursday from 3-4:30 (drop-in). We will have all sizes of blocks for builders of all ages.